Arab-Americans and North Africans to Share Culture
With People of New York City
at Cultural Street Festival in Downtown Manhattan

What: 6th Annual Cultural Street Festival
Date: Saturday, July 10, 2004 (Rain or Shine)
Time: 10:00 AM – 7:00 PM
Where: Bond Street, Between Broadway & Lafayette in the Village, New York City
Subways: N, R, W at Prince St.
6 at Bleecker St.
F, V at Broadway-Lafayette

On July 10, The Network of Arab American Professionals of NY and Algerian American Cultural Center will present a fun-filled day of Arabic culture open to all who wish to taste some of the foods and experience some of the traditions. Vendors will line the street offering a variety of products, exhibiting original artwork, displaying Arabic literature, and playing regional music.

It will be an important day of cultural celebration and sharing at a time when the American people misunderstand so much about Arab culture and identity. It is the hope of NAAP-NY and the Algerian American Cultural Center that the Street Fair will be a day of fun and greater awareness of Arab culture for all those who attend.

For more information on participating as a vendor or more details about the Street Fair, please contact (212) 740-4313 or visit <http://www.naaponline.org/ny/streetfair04.asp>.
