

Let your voices be heard. Contact your elected officials!

If you have never called your elected officials before - the people who are supposed to be representing YOU - today is a great day to start.

It only takes a few minutes. Your call will show elected officials that their Arab-American constituents have a voice, are serious about civic participation and that Arab-American interests need to be recognized.

Contact your Congress representatives!

The United States Congress is the legislature of the U.S federal government. It comprises of the Senate and the House of Representatives. Please contact your Congress person in both the Senate and House of Representatives and raise issues that are important to YOU!
